The ultimate responsibility for Product Safety and Quality lies with the Managing Directors who are committed to providing the leadership and provide the human and financial resources required to effectively implement the processes of the Quality Management and Product Safety Programme and maintain compliance with the Standards. They are also responsible for establishing the Quality Policy and Objectives and ensuring they are compatible with the context of the Organization. They must also ensure that the importance of the Quality Management System is effectively communicated, and they facilitate the following:-

- We strive to continually improve. Staying as we are is not an option.
- Our Clients will shape our improvement agenda. We must listen and respond to their evolving needs.
- Our Suppliers are our partners and we will work with them to secure excellence and continual improvement.
- Opportunities identified for improvement shall be recorded and fully implemented in line with this Policy.
- We will set targets for improvement and measure performance against them and assess them as part of our Management Review Meetings.
- We will set high standards for performance of our People and we will create an environment in which People can excel.
- We will communicate well internally and externally.
